Our school is a place where culture of English-speaking countries is taught on a regular basis during lessons, on-line courses, workshops, and school events.

Our participation in the project 'Ireland at School' is a result of such an activity. In year 2013 we had four initiatives where Ireland was promoted:

1. Storytelling Competition 'Polish legends vs. Celtic legends' – March 17th
2. Trip to the Consulate of Ireland – April 17th
3. European Day of Foreign Languages – September 26th
4. Workshops - baking Irish Scones – November 26th

St. Patrick's Day

It is our school tradition to hold a Storytelling Competition 'Polish Legends vs. Celtic Legends' on St. Patrick's Day. Eight students took part in it in 2013 and the winning legends were told by:

Zuzanna Patryas - 'Cormac the Sensitive', Wiktoria Marciniak - 'Children of Lir', Bartosz Cudziński - 'Loch Ness'.

Good command of English, attractiveness of the story and the way of presenting it were specially appreciated by the jury.

Storytelling Competition

Irish Consulate in Poznań

- * On April 17th a group of students visited an Honorary Irish Consul, Mr Krzysztof Schramm, in his office in Kramarska Street. He made a presentation about Ireland, discussed selected episodes from the Irish history, answered students' questions concerning Polish-Irish relations.
- * What students remembered most was the historical meaning of the colours of the Irish flag.
- * At the end of the meeting students were presented with maps and leaflets advertising Ireland and its holiday resorts.

European Day of Foreign Languages

- * On September 26th our school changed its look for the celebration of the European Day.
- * Each class had a booth which presented one of the European countries using numerous items typical for this country such as flags, books, presentations, clothes, delicacies, gadgets and sometimes art.
- * How do you like the Irish exhibition?
- * The first prize for it went to Class 1p and its Teacher Aleksandra Korytowska.

Cookery workshops

- * On November 26th students baked Irish Scones during the school cookery workshops.
- * We brought ingredients and utensils, discussed the recipe, prepared and rolled the dough, cut out circles and then baked them in the oven – all this was fun!
- * The scones tasted wonderful, especially that we had no limits on whipped cream and marmalade they were served with.
- * Students got really involved in these practical culture lessons and worked effectively as a team. We invited our neighbours, students from Special Ability School Nr 102, to taste our scones during an integrating meeting at the end of the workshops.
